

Mike And The Mechanics, Seeing Is Believing

I believe in Jesus
his father's only son
I do believe he sees us with the loaded gun.
I believe in the magic
Of the Mujahedin
I still believe in Daniel Ortega the sun in Omega, the Lord of the Rings
I believe in most everything.
I believe, I believe
I have a friend in England who says I must escape the meetings of Mao and Nixon it's an old debate.
But I believe in the magic of the King and the Queen And I still have a young rebel's sympathy radical symphonies still have a ring
I believe in most everything.
I believe
I fear this muddled thinking has to go some time I fear this sinking feeling's not the best of signs
I feel I'm in trouble as the Eighties close
I look to the future
I'm frightened, I'm scared U suppose.
You may think it's foolish that I still believe in love You laugh and you sneer
-it's cruel
It's what I'm thinking of.
I believe in the magic
in the power of the soul
one to one's my equation that carries the nation on to the goal we're all brothers and sisters, I'm told.
I believe, I believe, I believe in love do you believe what you're seeing Oh I believe in love.
I believe in love
I believe, I believe,
I believe, I believe, I believe in love.
