

Mike Borgia, Let You Down

When ever I'm away I'll never forget or regret digging in to you, with passionate taste and the heat from your skin is the signal we are ready to go.
I'd die for the feeling of being in love, but sometimes life is blank of both sides.
To me it's never over cause there's a new love inclusion...

oh wooh oh oh did I let you down I don't know how or why wooooh oh oh if it has to be at least I know I've tried.

I wish I got to know you from the very first day with no surprises, as this I comprehend needs a little

Chorus