Mike Doughty, Unsingable Name

I want to be your absolute ultimate Want to be your only one now Feel the wave come up from your sulkiness Feel the rays you radiate now

Sweet and plain unsingable name That rings in my mind now That strums me like a string Shine, unsingable name Over everything

Beware the thrum of hearts in your presence and Watch the breeze that snaps at you now All the dogs that bark from the fences and Everything is wanting for you Smirk on the face and fists in the clenches and Make the radiator blow now Crack the planks and shatter the lenses and Mix the salt, the sugar and flour

Slushing, sleeting through the blue gloom Some long bell's lonely ring Chime, unsingable name Over everything

I want to see the mountains in silhouette Want to split for Singapore now I want to see the mystery trees Want to hear the womanly sound
