

Mike Shinoda, Crossing A Line they'll tell you don't care anymore and I hope you'll know that's a lie cause I've found what I have been waiting for but to get there means crossing a line

I don't know how to warn you for what I'm gonna say cause you're holding so tight to what I'm taking away I got demons inside me so I'm faced with a choice either try to ignore them or I give them a voice and it's keeping me up at night worried it's not alright holding back things you don't know

and it's keeping me up at night
worried it's not alright
you're not gonna like where this goes and they'll tell you I don't care anymore and I hope you'll know what's a lie cause I've found what I've been waiting for but to get there means crossing a line so I'm crossing a line

it's not about status we know it never was cause what good is the kingdom when you're missing the love this is not a goodbye now I'm not going away no I don't have the answers but I do have the faith

and it's keeping me up at night
worried it's not alright
holding back things you don't know
and it's keeping me up at night
worried it's not alright
you're not gonna like where this goes
NO!