

Mike Shinoda, Nothing Makes Sense Anymore

I used to know where the bottom was somewhere far under the ocean waves up on a ledge I was looking down it was far enough to keep me safe but the ground was cracked open threw me in the ocean cast me out away at sea and the waves are still breaking now that I awaken
no one's left to answer me

me inside out
my left is right
my upside's down
my black is white
I hold my breath
and close my eyes
and wait for dawn but there's no light
Nothing Makes Sense Anymore
Nothing Makes Sense Anymore

I used to sleep without waking up in a dream I made from painted walls I was a moment away from done when the black spilled out across it all and my eyes were made sober world was turned over washing out the lines I'd seen and my heart is still breaking
now that I awaken
no one's left to answer me

me inside out
my left is right
my upside's down
my black is white
I hold my breath
and close my eyes
and wait for dawn but there's no light
Nothing Makes Sense Anymore
Nothing Makes Sense Anymore

I'm a call without an answer I'm a shadow in the dark trying to put it back together as I watch it fall apart

me inside out
my left is right
my upside's down
my black is white
I hold my breath
and close my eyes
and wait for dawn but there's no light
Nothing Makes Sense Anymore
Nothing Makes Sense Anymore