Millencolin, Boring Planet

When I was a kid, you know, I thought that I could fly throw myself out of a widow, right out into the sky now when I am older I know that I could die die from a depression, I would learn my lesson well

Life's so normal, nothing's shocking Boring planet, cause no one here is rocking Life's so tragic, nothing's clocking Boring planet cause no one here is rocking hard

When I was a kid I thought that I was strong the girls in school got beaten up by me every day long now when I am older I know that it was wrong to deal with girls in the first place, cause a broken heart is now the case I'm broken hearted in disgrace

It's a boring planet, we're just lying to ourselves
It's a boring planet, thank's to us and no one else