

Minnie Riperton, Memory Band

(C. Stepney)

Sail out of the dawn glide past the day
Drift into the mist float far away
Lift up the latch
Squeaks of the past, dull lighted patch
Sail sideways to morning backwards till noon
Climb into your head, look where you dare
Sit on every snowflake kissing air
Roam deep in the canyons beyond time
Reach through every curtain clouding mind
Greet each blinking dot before your eyes
Weep with tender rose petals sighs
Slip under the crack beneath your door
Step over the line where sky meets shore