

Miranda Lambert, Desperation

Throw a dog a bone, I'll take it if I have to Go real fast like there's somewhere we can get to
What's the use of standing right on the edge if there's no where to fall
What's the use of holdin' on tight to the phone if nobody might call

Desperation

There's danger in frustration
Complicated words slippin' off of your tounge and ain't one of them the truth
I'm still desperate for you

Tell it like a lie, live it like a movie
Give a heart away like it don't mean nothin' to me
What's the use of making all the plans that we made if you weren't gonna go
What's the use of slapping on a smile for a face if your eyes don't wanna show

Desperation

There's danger in frustration
Complicated words slippin' off of your tounge and ain't one of them the truth
I'm still desperate for you

Well it's too damn bad you didn't have a chance to make me your best friend
You were too caught up in giving too much up and not doing what you should have been

Desperation

There's danger in frustration
Complicated words slippin' off of your tounge and ain't one of them the truth
I'm still desperate for you
