Missy Higgins, Forgive Me

Oh my son look at what I've done
But I am learning still Learning still
Know that I am learning still
And oh my wife you are my life
And I am burning still Burning still
Know that I am burning for you still

And all, all, all of my light is for you And home, home's anywhere you are too So take this one fallen man on his knees Saying please forgive me

Oh my God how you make it hard Not to pick the apple Pick the apple And Lord I long to give it back

And I was on shakey land Lost and unsure I opened my hand And she held it like sinking sand

And all, all, all of my light is for you And home, home's anywhere you are too So take this one fallen man on his knees Saying please

All, all, all of my light is for you And home, home's anywhere you are too So take this one fallen man on his knees Saying please forgive me Forgive me Forgive me
