

Mitchel Musso, How to lose a girl

Hey you when will you realize you're about to lose the green eyes?
You take her for granted now she's tired of the change.
She gives you clues you're clueless tell me why do you do this?
You're so bored she's out the door it can never be the same.
I know that you feel so invincible but you're breaking down tonight.
This is how to lose a girl
This is how you're only lonely
This is how they fall to pieces
This is how to lose it all[it all]
This is how to lose a girl
This is how you broke the first thing in your world
And this is how to lose a girl
And this is how to lose a girl
You don't know what romance is to have no second chances.
To move on the moment's gone there's no one else to blame.
One day she'll hit the highway remind me cause i'll be waiting right here.
Then wipe the tears and steal my heart away.
I know that you feel so invincible but you're breaking down tonight.
This is how to lose a girl
This is how you're only lonely
This is how they fall to pieces
This is how to lose it all[it all]
This is how to lose a girl
This is how you broke the first thing in your world
And this is how to lose a girl