Mob Rules, The Miracle Dancer

I see the dancer at the gates of dawn His dances bring you to the tales of his world The son has left him in a burning war His wife has suffered from this failure

A day or a year Is it far is it near to his home? He lives and he cries Without ache, without lies he goes

Don't look back in anger Just try to picture the world in your head The miracle dancer Is turning his soul in a heaven-sent miracle dance

Miles from nowhere I see this mountain man No move, no step has blown away with the wind The dancer spent his life in sacred lands Gave his life to dance, you see the romance?

A day or a year Is it far is it near to his home? He lives and he cries Without ache, without lies he goes

Don't look back in anger Just try to picture the world in your head The miracle dancer Is turning his soul in a heaven-sent miracle dance