

Modern Life Is War, Clarity

Force fed from the outside
We live a crowded life it seems
Fragile minds in a fast paced world
Can't compute the images coming through the screens

Can't seem to bridge the gap between
A.M. reality and late night schemes

Can't seem to focus
As the glitter
Fades to green!

We've lost control!
(We've lost control!)
We've lost control!
(We've lost control!)

Stained glass from the outside
We suffer from a lack of clarity
Impatience in the information age
Has taken its toll on me

Sharp minds dulled down to nothing
And filled with fantasy
We exhausted options;
Set me free!

Walking Backwards
Shedding Skin
I try to block it out
They keep trying to get in
Don't let them in!

We've lost control!
(We've lost control!)
We've lost control!
(We've lost control!)

Confusion and identity crisis
(We've lost control!)
Deep in the heart of my America
(We've lost control!)
Another generation
(We've lost control!)
Has been bought and sold!

We've lost control!