

Moe Bandy, Darling Will You Marry Me Again

It was mom and daddy's anniversary
You hugged my mom and kissed my daddy's hand
It had been three years since you left me
And it broke my heart to see you once again

Don't know how you knew I'd stopped drinking
But it was so good to kiss and hold the key
Now that seems so many eyes start crying
When you said darling will you marry me again
(fiddle)

Then we all held each other tightly
As if we knew the world would surely end
Now that seems so many eyes stopped crying
When you said darling will you marry me again
Darling will you marry me again