

Moe Bandy, What Happened To Our Love

Last night I wandered through my mind to the place I'd love once live
When I got to your sweet love my eyes began to fill
Then I tried to remember why love turned out so sad
But all I could remember was the good times that we had

What happened to our love the one we were proud of
I can't recall one single drop of rain
What happened to our love the one we were proud of
I'd give the world if we could start over again
( steel )

Hear you're so happy now with a new love that you've found
Me I'm making out all right I do some traveling round
Well I found a lotta new friends but there's one thing I can't find
The answer to the question that's always in my mind

What happened to our love...
I'd give the world if we could start over again
