

Molly Hatchet, Just Remember (You're The Only

Thinkin' back, thinkin' way back when
There was only you and me
And time went by so easily
We learned from above and tried to call it love
All the trouble and the good and bad
We were all we ever had
Just remember, just remember... you're the only one

I had a dream one night
I made it to the limelight
Forgot where I came from
Lost sight of all my loved ones
I wasn't long until the fortune was gone
I thought it was the end
And I was hoping for a friend

Everything was gone in a blink of an eye
Without your love life ain't worth a dime... no
When you're sitting there all you've got is time
To remember, just remember... you're the only one

Now it's time that I must say to you
That you're always with me and I'll be true
It's been so long since this very day
That your love felt so strong
It could carry us away
Do you feel it, I remember, cause I can feel it
Do you remember... you're the only one... you're the only one
