

Moments In Grace, Distant and Longing Light

You're on my mind,
You're all that I think of now,
These days these nights,
And in my eyes the world has lost its color,
These days are like,
Another early morning,
Sleepless distant and longing,
Light leave quietly.

You have touched me now,
You haunt me over and over,
I've closed my eyes,
You tell me when it's over,
These days my life,
Moonlight survived,
But I couldn't find the cover,
From these cold nights,
Another early morning,
Sleepless and longing life,
Leave quietly,
Promise me,
That these days,
Will end.

The fated truth,
That this loneliness is all that surrounds us,
The lives we choose,
And the emptiness that always surrounds us.
