

Monday Morning, Breakaway

There's no description stated for what I'm feeling lately You're my prescription maybe for my disease of emptiness my life was overrated until You invaded now nothing's complicated just You and me and love

so break away
break away
we'll break away

so I've been thinking maybe we'd leave this world behind and run to a distant nowhere and live off love alone Your love was suffocated now it's excavated and nothing's complicated
just You and me and love

here I'm standing watching, waiting for someone, something to come and take me