

Moneybrother, Eventually It'll Break Your Heart

You were right about the fuss
Didn't do no good for us
Though my mistakes were few
You were right about them too
I'll admit that now

Though at at the time I couldn't tell
You were right to leave as well
'Cause the good times got less
And the bad times well, yeah.
I get that now

What's sad about pride?
It is keeping us apart
What's sad about love?
Eventually it'll break your heart

So let's hear it from the guys that tried
And let's hear it from the guys that failed
You know what I've been through and it is still haunting you, and I know now.

What's sad about pride?
It is keeping us apart
What's sad about love?
Eventually it'll break your heart
