

Moneybrother, They're Building Walls Around Us

Sorry Baby, sadly, I gave up, I know
I was out of options with nowhere left to go
I was much to young back then baby, just a kid
It just seemed I stayed that way no matter what I did

Let's say it
The're building walls around us now
Oh let's say it
The're building walls around us now

My friends say:
-Hey by splitting, what did you achieve?
For all intents and purposes, it's easier to leave
Now it seems whoever else approaches me,
There's always an imbalance, I mean, ideologically

Let's say it
The're building walls around us now
Oh let's say it
The're building walls around us now

It seems that I fell out of luck
Into the outstretched arms of fuck up, I know
It seems that I fell out of luck
Into the outstretched arms of fuck up, I know

Now it seems blindfolded, I just tag a long
When I found out that I did wrong
Baby you were gone
I smile and shake my head at this, what else can I do?
I keep getting signs baby, all leading back to you

Say it say it say it say it say it
The're building walls around us now
Oh let's say it
The're building walls around us now

It seems that I fell out of luck
Into the outstretched arms of fuck up, I know
It seems that I fell out of luck
Into the outstretched arms of fuck up, I know