Monika Ferens, The Last Tears I Have To Cry

Distorted by realization Suppressed by the past Terrified by the future thats unknown I cant wait To watch how all my bruises fade away To survive those days... Get life over to receive everything Get life over and chase it away From this day Theres nothing on my way... Broken inside I want you to cry with me When everyday causes thrill Despite I have so tried Havent you seen It hurts when theres nothing good left Never stress was so real... Im getting you over And I will be everything Let my dream come true To run away from that madness To breathe, breathe Away from fear and mourning That again I wont do it right Im waiting for happy ending But Im afraid at the same time Where am I? You will never touch me again...