

Moody Blues, Foolish love

We ran through the summer fields Between the earth and sky. Little did we realise We were flying,