

Moonlight Awakening, Deviation

A mindset so unreal
The victory for your fears
I'm so unwelcome here,
A haven of mass-hysteria
Is this broken?
A wayward lie you live
Your life is broken
You'd rather take than give
And leave it open...

The path you seize in all your wasted years
Is so becoming darker now
Your eyes grow wide with fear...
The circumstance behind the chance you take
To realise it never ends
In ways you can't believe again.

You walked away from all you were
In hopes of better days to come
You walked away from all you were
Now there's nowhere left to run.

Your mindset so unreal,
A victory for your peers
I won't come closer,
Now that I've realised
Your life is broken.
You continue to persist,
"My life is broken."
And now you've lost your chance
To leave it open...

You walked away from all you were
In fear of bitter days to come
You walked away from all you were
In fear of better days to come.