

Moonlight Awakening, Every Angel Falls

i know it's so hard for you i fear there is nothing i can do proceeding this far with you i've spoken you nothing but the truth we dream on these lonely nights and how on this planet we'll survive to only escape from this i wanna escape into your eyes your breathing so silent now and all of your light is masked in shrouds of hopelessness and defeat the absense of mystic gifts renown i know it's so difficult the mind and the soul can't come to terms with tranquil and open thoughts and all the despondency we've learned don't tell me you're nothing, don't tell me you're gone just tell me you're something, just tell me i'm wrong with millions of people and millions of stars you've opened my mind and broken my heart say it's true and i don't mind that all the angels fall tonight say it's real, i won't despair, but there were days when i once cared