

Moonlight Awakening, Phoenix

to practice flight in your grasp i feel withdrawn from your hands the only difference isn't clear i shout my name but you won't hear and it seems like tomorrow has been and gone there's just no inbetween sometimes i think the only way i'll survive is alone and i know that we're all gods but today i feel like nothing i wanna redefine what it's like to be on my own it's just how i feel sometimes cause it's so hard for me no, i don't want your sympathy it's just a part of my mind i doubt you wanna hear this though my feelings are so strong it's why i say i'm torn and why i can't conceive of bliss the phoenix tries to to hold on all it has it's dreaming for the walls to fall and break apart to fly away somehow yet always be at home the phoenix falls again and always ends alone