

MOONLIGHT HAZE, The Butterfly Effect

Do you remember where we were some years ago?
Can you recall the feelings hidden in your soul?
So... Don't you find fascinating how our paths have crossed?

It has been hard for me to overcome it all
But with every breath I take I learn.

If we could turn back time and start again,
How would it be?
If we had changed one single thing
The tale would be different
Nothing would be the same, in many ways, even us
Maybe we should live another life
But no one can tell

What if I didn't scream those painful angry sounds?
And if they didn't hear my rage so clear and loud?
Still with every breath we take we learn

If we could turn back time and start again,
How would it be?
If we had changed one single thing
The tale would be different
Nothing would be the same, in many ways, even us
Maybe we should live another life
But no one can tell

All that we have become is the result of our past
With all the good and the bad luck
I'm writing down these lines to realize and to remind
Myself to be aware of this