

Moonpools & Caterpillars, Heaven

I believe in heaven and know that I should just except it all So content with the paths that I walk on
- surely I should see it all
So take care and don't go to far,
I will miss your soul
When the distance grows and the nights are long and your scared at times and you wonder why Take care and don't go to far
I will miss your soul
I've looked into the sky a hundred times and I've seen the stars that shine so bright I'm sure that one of them is you, my friend Watching and waiting and hoping that I'll be alright
So take care and don't go to far
I will miss your soul
And when the distance grows
and the nights are long and you're scared at times
and you wonder why
Take care I will miss your soul
The road back home is shorter than you know
