

Morgan Wallen, Single Than She Was

She had two beers on the counter when I found her
That neon wrapped right around her like a smoky halo
We talked for almost an hour over sours
I told her, "Girl, tell me how you're in this bar all alone?"
She said she was meetin' someone, seein' someone
But all I know
Is he didn't show and

She let me buy her a drink
She even stole a sip of mine
She drug me front of the stage
Danced on my boots to closin' time
I got her number and name
I ain't sayin'
Her and her mans got any plans on breakin' up
But I tell you what
She's a little more single than she was
She's a little more single than she was

I bet he'll blame all the traffic
Tell her he got distracted
But I tell you right now that gal's body was actin'
Like she was missin' somethin'
Like he just isn't someone
That learned from the last time
Maybe that's why

She let me buy her a drink
She even stole a sip of mine
She drug me front of the stage
Danced on my boots to closin' time
I got her number and name
I ain't sayin'
Her and her mans got any plans on breakin' up
But I tell you what
She's a little more single than she was

She could be leading me on, be happy at home
But that look in her eyes looks like she's already gone

'Cause she let me buy her a drink
She even stole a sip of mine
Drug me front of the stage
Danced on my boots to closin' time
I got her number and name
I ain't sayin'
Her and her mans got any plans on breakin' up
But I tell you what
She's a little more single than she was
She's a little more single than she was
She's a little more single than she was
She's a little more single than she was
