

Motion City Soundtrack, Where I Belong

Hello there how you doing
I've got all these thoughts just floating through my brain
They bump and they collide and cause a flurry of confusion
And it's getting on my nerves
I try to hold myself together fighting off this mental weather when I can (Sometimes I do)
But this shitstorm's never ending
And the atmospheric pressure's calling for rain

This is what I've got going on
This is where I belong tonight

It's chaos in the courthouse
And the left side's all upset
Because the right side wants a summer home and knows we can't afford it
I try to mediate between
This constant tug-o-war machine
But wind up in a never ending game of telephone
There's so much going on
And I just need seven minutes to calm myself back down

Now I forgot where I was
Was it me we were talking about?
This is what I feared from the start
I keep falling apart

What's going on, is this where I belong tonight?
What's going on tonight
What's going on, is this where I belong tonight?
What's going on (can't stand)

I can't stand the thought of losing
Sentences and every island of words (can't stand)
I can't stand the thought of losing
Everything I ever thought I that I knew

This is where I run out of words
That describe how I'm do damn hurt
This is where I fumble and fold
And take what I'm told

What's going on, is this where I belong at night?
What's going on tonight
What's going on, is this where I belong at night?
What's going on tonight
What's going on, is this where I belong at night?
What's going on (can't stand)

I can't stand the thought of losing
Sentences and every island of words (can't stand)
I can't stand the thought of losing
Everything I ever thought I that I knew
