

Mouga, I Can Hold

Have you ever let somebody down?

...Like me

I got numb I'm a mental

Hesitation I took wrongfully

Thank you for weakness that appears

When I try to keep my head up stronger

This time?

I know bleeding learns how to pick up oneself

I hope I will never miss you in this way

If you're ready to follow me down in my life again

I will raise you up

I can't believe you're here by my side today

You'll never drag me down

Have you ever felt that you're a part of the game?

The devil's grinnin' while you're cryin' another day

There's so much fatigue to dream and wonder

I know it's hard to breathe and carry all these things

I can bring you a wellness for today

I can be your only medicine

I hope you will never change yourself

Cause we have enough of being ashamed

If you're ready to follow me down in my life again

I will raise you up

I can't believe you're here by my side today

You'll never drag me down

Here, I live my life again

Not to throw the stones

Not to lock out the door...

Here, I live my life for you

So don't turn your back

We shall walk this way

If you're ready to follow me down in my life again

I will raise you up

I can't believe you're here by my side today

You'll never drag me down
