

Mr. Special & Laurie Webb, Aren't You Clever

The way you leave me in the dark
Aren't you clever
The way you space things apart
Feels like forever

And I can't predict the changes,
Everything's so strange
I never mind, I never care,
It always makes my day

When you come home, here we go again
wondering, if we'll ever win
When you come home, I can't help falling
Even though it's a long way down

It's a long way down

Feel the pull of the dance draws nearer
I leave it all up to chance
Maybe never

But it tends to fill the sky

Every kind of light
Like the birds, in the wind
Makes my heart just fly

When you come home, here we go again
wondering, if we'll ever win
When you come home, I can't help falling
Even though it's a long way down

There is no black and white
Just know it feels right
It feels right

When you come home, here we go again
wondering, if you'll ever care
When you come home, I can't help falling
Even though it's a long way down
It's a long way down

The way you leave me in the dark,
Aren't you clever?
