

Mud Flow, Chemicals

Just another party where the people wanna dance alone everybody's trying to have some fun neonlights are buzzing round my head i feel the sense of me the sublime after-glow of inner peace Just a tiny point lost in the universe shaky on my knees your turn me on, oh my! I still have a body i come to see the world inside where i won't feel the breeze but there's one thing i don't believe in and it's you
'cause i feel like i'm nothing in the world maybe chemicals are losing are losing you

somewhere in my head there is a little crack the painful track of what i could have done before you came along a strange regret is what i get the tables are turned we're all gonna burn
i breathe no air & everyone is there for me

If only i could see please let me see again when trouble comes i know for sure the distance in your eye i should be on your side & you're cold cold like death i opened the door
this time
let us shine
