

Murray McLauchlan, Harder To Get Along

Snow is fallin' on the corner
As my honey comes home from school
She don't feel right with the world
I always thought it was wrong
But it's gettin' harder to get along

I can see it like it was yesterday
They said you could change the world
But they didn't say how
I was young and strong
But it's gettin' harder to get along

In a beggar's eyes are the words you hear
Deep inside your heart
Crumbled dreams draw the lines
As hopelessness tear everyone apart

It was something that I had heard
Like the writing on the wall
Do we wait for the final blast
Or simply fade away
Christ somebody's gotta come on strong
It's gettin' harder to get along
