

Murray McLauchlan, You Need A New Lover Now

Nothin' much to say
It's windy today
You sit lookin' out
Through your windowpane
Thinkin' 'bout him
How you lost at love again
Singin' little girl's blues
While your lost in the rain
You need a new lover now

Lovers come in twos
This time you lose
Everybody must sometimes get lonely
Life goes by in years
Far too many tears
Can be cried by you
Just for you only
Don't waste your time

You need a new lover now
You need a new lover now
Lover's eyes never cry
You need a new lover now

Nothin' much to say
You just walked away
Feel like an echo in an empty lane
Nothin' much remains
But starin' at the rain
When it stops
Maybe try again

You need a new lover now
You need a new lover now
Lover's eyes never cry
You need a new lover now
