

Muse, Natural Disaster

Conforming on a monday too often and too cold but you aren't even listening because you are just too old to feel an earthquake too cool to even care
but you aren't even listening
so why should I?
you are a natural disaster
and I've wanted you too much and now I'm gonna lose I've wanted you too much and now I've gotta choose you're the cause of all this and I'm sick of trying to please you yeah
and you're gonna feel my emotions coming yeah because you're the world like a broken damn you're empty and all that's left are the sticks and stones that were built by other people and it really shows and you aren't even listening cause you are just
so why should I?
because you're the world
