

Musiq, Time

(Verse 1)

I'd like to take a minute to apologize
For not taking advantage of you
Through all the years you've passed me by Honestly, I really wanted to be mad at you
For so many hours I've waited
I finally know what it means to be patient
And everything has its place and reason
And I've learned that

(Chorus)

Time waits for nothin
And everything is gonna take its time
Time waits for nothin
(For if you ever)
And everything is gonna take its time
(Cause it will never)
Time waits for nothin
And no one, cause everything has its time

(Verse 2)

I used to think that
If I tried that maybe
I could change the things that
I regretted in my past life
But through all the lessons
That you taught me
I have learned
My experiences, they hold my character

Now as I look back with what I know now
I can say I wouldn't change a thing
Because I love who I became
And when its all said and done
I can only live for today

Cause I've learned that

(Chorus)

Time waits for nothin
And everything is gonna take its time
Time waits for nothin
(For if you ever)
And everything is gonna take its time
(Things are gonna happen)
Time waits for nothin
And no one, cause everything has its time

(Verse 3)

I used to find it hard to believe
And almost impossible to conceive
That everything I do, Revolves around you
And knowing that is kinda crazy to make
Now, if I had a dollar for every moment I spent
Watchin my days go by doin doin doin nothin
I probably would never be penniless or hopeless
So for a while now
I've kept in mind cause what they say is true
That you are of the essence

Down to the very last second
And I'm so glad that I've grown to respect you

(Chorus)

Time waits for nothin
And everything is gonna take its time
Time waits for nothin
(For if you ever)
And everything is gonna take its time
(Cause it will never)
Time waits for nothin
And no one, cause everything has its time