

Mustard Plug, Last Night

Last night I thought it was figured out but the answer was that I had known it all along

Last time I thought that I had won 'til I found out that the final game' already won

I knew it all before self-delusion got in my way
I knew it all along

I knew it all before
time to learn from bitter mistakes
I knew it all along

Last night I thought that you were gone Then I woke to find that you were never even there

Right now I'm choking on a thought.
Right now I'm free to say it's finally coming clear