

Mustard Plug, Not Enough time has come you think it's over yeah ya had enough burned out and over-rated time to give it up but then the spark ignites the flame and now you realize why you came you know it's hardly over

it's not enough
and you can't live without it you can't sleep til you've got it no way to ignore it
it's not enough
you had thought you gave it up just the breath before you gulp no use holding back now
it's not enough
no need to justify it don't be afraid
back in another corner there's another way stop adding to your own oppression gotta give in to your obsession you've gotta give in to..it's not enough just when you think it's over
you know it's hardly over
just when you think it's over you know it's not enough