

My American Heart, Poison

One last hit for you.
Two pills here for me
One too many times I've felt this way about you.
Here's the poison for your lungs, smoke it down 'til you throw up.
Then I'll reach down to push some sense right down your throat.

Your poison's so played out.
And all the love from your heart beating.
Has left me cold it's left me out.
But you can't break me down.
And all the love from your heart beating.
Has watched me drive out of this town.

I've tried to make this life have meaning for myself,
but all you do is make life a living hell.

So just, (so just) say no (say no),
we'll find our way home.
So I search and search for the answers.
These doors will lead us nowhere.

Your poison's so played out.
And all the love from your heart beating.
Has left me cold it's left me out.
But you can't break me down.
And all the love from your heart beating.
Has watched me drive out of this town.

Drive out of this, drive out of this, drive out of this town.
Your poison's so played out
and all the love from your heart beating
has left me cold, has left me out.
But you can't break me down and all the love from your heart beating
has watched me drive out of this town
(this poison) (will break you down)
