

My Superhero, Long Gone

right now you're going to far very far so far now right now you'd like to think about a drink but you've already drown shall we just say bye at the gate right now you're life's like a couch inside a house where noone wants to be right now you've sorted it out beyond a doubt but who wants to see you could turn it up but you won't hear you didn't want to hear go ahead and think about how it might be without no sympathy go ahead and worry about how she might be when she figures out about it you can't even step one foot out of those shoes ankle deep in shit and when you finally sink a little more you'll be there for her and you'll finally hit the floor
