

Myriads, Enigmatic Colours Of The Night

(Music: Myriads, Lyrics: Alexander Twiss and Mona Undheim Skottene)

I investigate a power in me that always has been lying latent to gain a spiritual and physical invulnerability

I am flying from windstorms and thunderbolts, they will never capture me

She searches the extreme in every part of herself, no barriers can keep her from realizing her dreams
There are vast powers in man which normally are unknown, lying latent deep inside, hidden for them to see

(Chorus)

Reach the insurmountable, limits exceeded
She is the one that has competence
I am growing wilder,
I am leaving what I was in
I am glowing brighter,
I have the power to win

She is glowing brighter, she has the power to win

I am diving deep against all currents,
I make the water circulate

She uses all abilities in herself, she finds strength in the deepest gaps of her nature The secret to gain all the is unveiled in situations where they are vital

(Chorus)

Unthinkable, enormous and obscure force

Was it for real what she just did?
She seems bewitched, with unlimited powers Are such actions controlled and deliberate?

Malignant I penetrate your soul,
Invoking you with witchery

She is moving faster into another condition filled by penetrating metaphysics Sometimes man goes too far abusing their latent forces Then it might be too late to regret their recent actions

(Chorus)

I am growing wilder,
I make the fire wherein new life will begin

And after twilight when every colour turns grey, with my abilities
I see a different way

I have the wisdom
To see the dark as a light, I view the truth of Enigmatic colours of night
