

Nada Surf, Fruit Fly

left some food wrapped up in a plastic bag
on the kitchen table
way too long
i sat down to eat
next to the bag
i was too tired
to throw it out
i saw a swarm of fruit flies i took the bag downstairs when i came back
they were still there
flying jerky patterns
like snowflakes in the air i'm sorry you've got nowhere to go left straight right straight
i can't find a reason
i know i'll keep going but
nothing looks right
nothing smells right
and i can't land
geometric patterns
smearing out of control only have enough gas left for the beer can to the bowl what can you do but go on?
oh no you make your own mistakes
i cannot bring them back to you
i cannot measure up to you
