

Nada Surf, Voices

why do i worry, what do they think?

what is she saying to them?

i can't ignore anything.

you're eating up my world like my every second was haunted.

were you just like this since you were a girl, cause it's all i've ever wanted.

i'm just like you, peel away the layers two by two.

you're just like me, piling on the pressure three by three.

we're almost done shutting out the voices one by one.

why do i worry, what do they think?

what is she telling her friends? i can't ignore anything.

i'm planning out my moves like my every second was graded.

i'm obsessed, i get no rest.