Naked, Drift Away

We tied together
Twined us into one
But knots remember
To come undone
Slipping gently
Setting into sail
I tried to steady
To no avail

And if you walk away Remember me as before And if I go, well know I had to go

You drift away from me, now baby Don't drift away from me

The fraying tether Severs as we sleep Sometimes forever Cannot keep

Delta knows that Rivers must part their ways Into the paths of change 'til all is emptied out to sea

The tide is changing and you're gone

You drift away from me, no, baby You drift away from me You just drift away Something's not the same now, baby Don't drift away from me

Once was not enough for love Twice was not enough for love But you're gone You're gone away

You drift away from me, baby You drift away from me You just drift away No, something's not the same now baby Don't drift away from me