

Nana Mouskouri, Don't Go My Love

What a beautiful gift the heart can be
When there's someone to receive it
What a beautiful sound is honesty
When there's someone to believe it

I used to say I didn't need
A love that I could keep
But I spent too many nights alone
Crying myself to sleep

"So don't go, my love"
"Please don't go, my love"
I need you more than ever before
"So don't go, don't go my love"

What a sweet surprise to have the ties
That only fools would sever
But it's worth all the gloom that we've been through
If love could last forever

'Cause when I think of all the times
Love almost slipped away
When I know I needed so much more
Than words could ever say

"So don't go, my love"
"Please don't go, my love"
I need you more than ever before
"So don't go, don't go my love"
