

Nancy Wilson, Give Me Something Real

Give Me Something Real

I'm not willing to live
Blinded by another lover who leads me on 'Cause they know just how to give Just enough to get what they want
And then they're gone

Well I've been there and done that before
But this time I'm going through another door
Give me something real now
That I can feel now
Hit me with a love that won't let go
If you're gonna choose me don't refuse me Baby show me what you've got and give me something real.

True love has no disguise
You shouldn't have to make your feelings a mystery
There's no room for surprise
Not inside a heart that's aching for honesty
'Cause I've followed illusions before

But daydreams don't do it for me anymore

Give me something real now
That I can feel now
Hit me with a love that won't let go
If you're gonna choose me don't refuse me
Baby, show me what you got
and give me something real we can share a feeling so rare
Let's make a love of our own

What's past is past so let's make this last Show me what I've never known

Give me something real now
That I can feel now
Hit me with a love that won't let go
If you're gonna choose me don't refuse me.

Baby, show me what you've got and give me something real
