

Narcoze, The Dawning

As i look in the deep of the sky
And the clouds cover my dreams
Then i feel right through my heart
That nothing is what is seems
As i walk on sands of life
And the horizons seem to be so far
I know i can reach what i want
I have to leave my scars
There's a lomng path for me to go
A hard way for me to know
As i have my sorrows before me
The wind blows harder into my soul
Trying to make me see things
That i could not see before
My destiny is not what i thought it was
Now i'll have to make it on my own
Always walking towards the sun
I will do it alone