Nat Stuckey, Here I Go Again

Here I go again missing you yes here I go again feeling blue You're gone and still my crazy heart keeps right on bein' true Yes here I go again missing you

I woke up this morning and drew an old familiar line Said this is it today's the day I get you off my mind But all my good intentions couldn't keep these tears inside Now I'm right back in that same old boat to take that same old ride And here I go again missing you... Yes here I go again missing you
