

National Product, Where Do You Go

Staring again at the ceiling watching you walk away watered eyes
shallow breathing i dont think that its right.

to wonder whats been going on with you and whats new your life obviously you doubt me to not give me a try passing your house in the evening your room where i used to lay lights off, lights up questions of where you are tonight where are you

and where do you go
when im wishing you'd call
and i miss you so much
do you miss me at all

i hope you are living well

do you m.i.s.s - m.e. - a.t - a.l.l.
