

Neal Casal, Virginia Dare

you were here, now you're gone hoping just to find some place where you belong let me know before too long how the world's been treating you and if you've finally heard that song to make you wanna stay and if so, let it play

I find it hard to see you now as if you never even really come around left behind, feeling down it's not that I'd forgotten you it's not as if I'd said a word to make you wanna stay, anyway

oh, Virginia dare
you're on my mind
oh, Virginia dare

before the flood comes rushing in we should try to find some place to start again it's only life, it's always been the same things confusing you about the life you couldn't find
to make you wanna stay
what can I say

oh, Virginia dare
you're on my mind
oh, Virginia dare