

Neal Morse, Everything Is Wrong

All the world's a stage and all can play their part Words to live by, that's what she said Things were good then
She was like money in the bank
That's exactly the words that she used

And she was talented Dying for her art
She was a number two who never got the part
And now everything
Everything is wrong
Everything is wrong

He painted for years and then he painted her World alive, colors living
And when she left
he snuck over and painted her apartment
The morning light is so unforgiving

And he was the next Van Gogh
cutting of his ear
He wanted to show up
but could only disappear
And now everything
Everything is wrong
Everything is wrong

And he was the next Van Gogh
cutting of his ear
He wanted to show up
but could only disappear
And now everything
Everything is wrong
Oh yeah, everything
Everything is wrong
Oh yes, everything
Everything is wrong
Everything is wrong
